

Amey - corporate websites and Intranet

Agidea supports global infrastructure and public services giant, Amey, across a range of digital projects.

Amey: Website and Digital development

Over the past 4 years, we have helped Amey to develop more than a dozen DotNetNuke and Umbraco websites, including their corporate website, an intranet system with over 21,000 users and high profile public sites, such as the Forth Road Bridge, all of which we provide ongoing support services.

amey.co.uk

Mobile friendly

Many of Amey's websites are accessed primarily on mobile devices and, hence, responsive design is business critical.

Systems integration

We have integrated multiple systems and APIs into Amey websites, including job applicant systems, Sharepoint and telemetry devices.

Built for engagement

Amey sites make use of social share buttons and feedback forms to engage with site visitors.

Agidea operates and is seen as a strategic partner to Amey, rather than just a supplier. The team's breadth of knowledge and ability to respond to constantly evolving business priorities has enabled us to be continually agile in response to our customers.

Phil Atkin, Senior Digital Communications Manager, Amey